

Simplify research with an integrated investigation viewpoint

Diligent research often results in investigative detours that go beyond a specific search. This can decrease the efficiency of your efforts and make results difficult to capture and retain. You need a way to simplify investigative workflows and easily integrate disparate research findings. LexisNexis® Integrated Web Search enables your business to centrally organize and manage research from LexisNexis® Risk Solutions and external web content in one convenient place.

Keep investigations in efficient motion

LexisNexis® Integrated Web Search integrates external web research into existing investigative workflows to create a seamless way to combine research into a single view that can be printed, formatted into a pdf, HTML or zip document and saved for future reporting needs. The Integrated Web Search tool enables your business to initiate and launch a web search that is integrated with LexisNexis® AML Insight™ and LexisNexis Risk Management Solutions®. External web content can be saved and annotated and sent back to LexisNexis Risk Solutions to be combined with other research on the subject. LexisNexis Integrated Web Search provides a streamlined route to standardize investigations and help your business:

- Increase investigation consistency
- Simplify research and save time
- Organize investigation content across disparate sources
- Improve reporting and prepare for possible audits

LexisNexis Integrated Web Search is an intelligent tool that helps easily extend research on a subject across external web sources to ensure you have the most comprehensive and relevant investigative viewpoint available. By delivering an integrated way to combine and package research results into a formatted document, the tool builds greater efficiencies across key investigative workflows and helps organize and manage investigative results. Simplify complex investigations and standardize the way you access and store results with LexisNexis Integrated Web Search.
